

35. Thirty-fifth International Plea

Sent: Tuesday, August 31, 2010 12:48 AM

Subject: Seeking Christian practical help and rescue away from devilish Sweden.

An appeal for practical Christian help: Christian unmarried man excommunicated from church in Sweden, ousted from Swedish society, and currently without humane future in Sweden, because of Sweden's heartless pastors and heretic priests, and due to Sweden's aggressively anti-Christian culture.

Dear Pastors and Ministry leaders,

Will you please help? If for some reason it is impossible for you to be a friend in Christ and to be practical, then will you please at least pray - that a human on earth will want to help?

By sins of commission from the Swedish Pentecostal denomination and by sins of omission (failing to do what God has commanded) from verbal adherents of Christianity within all other Swedish churches, these circumstances are. Even if 6.8 billion people on earth were to pray for a solution to the circumstances described in this letter - none of these circumstances would change. Unless, a human decides to help. God expects humans to be practical. Faith without deeds is dead. (James 2:14-20)

Sweden's inhumane priests and pastors have, as well as Sweden's anti-Christian government and parliamentarians, obstructed all avenues of 'normal' progression against me within the Swedish society. Your intercessory prayers are certainly encouraged, but God's and your intervention and practical help is needed. Will you help?

Due to Swedish incivility and inhumanity, my life progression in Sweden lacks basic human dignity. Shortly after I left permanent residency in Canada eleven years ago to help evangelise and resume residence in Sweden, my life in Sweden is like having stood for ten years at the bottom of an unclimbable pit; everyday shouting upwards for help from the pit in hope that one day, one of the hundreds of humans and Swedish priests that each week look down into the pit and see me shouting, would toss down a rope. Every other month or so, a Swedish priest shouts back into the pit and says "I shall pray for you." before disappearing. But not one Swedish human will be practical - and offer the end of a rope. Prayer has become a comfortable excuse among the religious for not wanting to help. And so my unresolved agony as an excommunicated Christian seeking church and marriage continues; day by day and year after year. Inhumane and evil Sweden, resembling Satan himself, steals, kills and destroys (John 10:10) - and offers no liveable future.

Please visualise this life situation: After more than fifteen years (15 years!!) of daily fervent prayers for God to find a Christian woman interested in communication, friendship and marriage, and after six years (6 years!) of regularly emailing my plea for help to every denominational church all over Sweden concerning my despairing need for help in meeting a Christian woman, and after several pleas for prayer support concerning my need for church fellowship and marriage during the past three years (3 years!) to caring non-Swedish churches and international ministries such as yours, my conviction in a prayer-alone solution is weakened. Logically, a human person needs to become the solution towards relational assistance, as we are social beings by design. No Christian in Sweden wants to be a helping friend. Although I have many Christian acquaintances I do not have one Christian friend within Sweden. Because no Christian in Sweden is a friend and no person in Sweden wants to help, it appears impossible to resolve my circumstantial crisis within Sweden. No pastor or priest in Sweden knows me or speaks with me, and no Christian acquaintance in Sweden is a friend. Simply expressed: Christians in Sweden don't care. Therefore, perhaps the prayer-alone solution is a non-solution. I am convinced that God is waiting to find a human of God's avail; a willing Christian, to become the help I need - so that I can commence to meet and communicate with a Christian woman. Based on my knowledge and experience of Sweden, a nation impoverished from lack of social capital, I assess of the situation that only humans outside of Sweden will be able to become the Christian friend that I need. Unlike Swedish church people, will you as a non-Swede please take action as a Christian should?

Year 2002 I was unexplainably excommunicated from the Swedish Pentecostal denomination (www.pingst.se). Since then, I have continually pleaded to the denominations and churches in Sweden that a pastor or church would want to act with Christian compassion. I have been begging the churches and denominations in Sweden if any Christian pastor would want to welcome me and assist in the difficult life situation that anti-Christian Swedish society and the unrighteous excommunication from church has imposed. However, no church in Sweden wants to help.

As a Christian, I need church fellowship. As a human, I need a humane environment. And as a single man longing for Christian marriage, I need opportunity for communication with other Christians. Sweden currently obstructs all three basic needs. It is nearly impossible for me as a Christian single man to marry a Christian woman in Sweden, because: 1) I am excommunicated from church without a provided reason, 2) no pastor in Sweden wants to welcome me and assist, 3) there are few Christians in Sweden (~5%), 4) most Swedish-nurtured and Swedish-cultured Christian women are feminists (relatively radical), and 5) in most international comparisons Swedish people would best be described as social imbeciles. Therefore, I plead for your practical help. Will you be a friend in Christ? I also encourage your intercessory prayers for God to transform the hearts and minds of pastors and priests in Sweden so that their Swedishness will be transformed to Christlikeness, and for the difficult life circumstance that Swedish church governance has created and sustained for me here. Not one "Christian" pastor in Sweden wants to welcome me and help. Not one "Christian" pastor knows me. And not one "Christian" in Sweden is a friend.

My current circumstance in longing for marriage companionship as an outcast from church is grievously cruel and unhealthy. In addition to the Swedish obstructions of attaining a marriage-future, family-future, church-future, or theology-studying future in Sweden, I now also have no academic and professional future in Sweden within Public Health (please read about the corrupted Swedish academia: www.nenzen.net/KI-short.pdf). I need to emigrate from evil Sweden to any nation where Christian church leaders are still compassionate: welcoming, discipling, encouraging and helping other Christians. As a Christian, I need fellowship with other Christians and a possibility to pray, work and worship together. As a human, I need an environment of possibilities for marriage. Therefore I need to emigrate – with a little help from you.

Sweden is a secularised extremist, antichristian, anti-Semitic, abortion-promoting, sciencephobic, anti-family, morally confused, cowardly, corrupt and thoroughly rotten nation - a nation of the shadow of death. It is not only a personal opinion, but it is a known fact that the perverse Swedes are more anti-God than any other people on earth: www.nenzen.net/satanic-Sweden.pdf. All international students that I have spoken with at universities in Sweden, and those students I have mentored, without exception express varying degree of concern regarding the anti-social and unfriendly nature of Swedish people. This is one official testimony from a student about Sweden (www.kyrkor.be/student-testimony-of-Sweden.pdf) and a website dedicated to describing Swedes (www.swedenson.com).

The letters sent to the Swedish pastors in request of their willingness to welcome and assist are published on: www.kyrkor.be.

By reasoning, it is difficult to conclude differently than that Swedish pastors and priests are uncompassionate. The inductive logic towards this conclusion could be formulated as follows:

- Fact 1: All "Christian" denominations in Sweden and the majority of churches in Sweden have received my plea for help.
- Fact 2: Not one single pastor in Sweden has replied that the pastor wants to help.
- Fact 3: Most pastors in Sweden who have responded to my direct plea express discourtesy and prejudice. Some Swedish pastors, furthermore, falsely accuse me.
- Fact 4: Nearly all pastors in the United States that have chosen to comment this described Swedish circumstance have expressed empathy, respectfully articulated humane and Biblical encouragements, and confirmed willingness to pray for Sweden and for my personal Swedish circumstance.
- Premise 1: It is uncompassionate to not want to help a distressed person.
- Premise 2: Torsten is a distressed person.
- Premise 3: No Swedish pastor wants to help Torsten.
- Conclusion: All Swedish pastors are uncompassionate.

If there is exemption from the conclusion that all Swedish pastors and priests are merciless, such an exceptional Swedish pastor would need to falsify the objective fact number 2, and hence premise number 3.

Some Swedish pastors have objected to Swedish pastors being categorically described as uncompassionate, although none of the pastors that object wants to help. Apparently, Swedish pastors are incapable to understand the relationship of causality over extended time (Swedish pastors are ascribed the attribute as uncompassionate only after years of Swedish pastors' declared unwillingness to help and the remaining pastors' unanswered pleas).

The attitude of unwillingness to help a distressed brother in Christ has no Biblical support. Swedish pastors' unwillingness to help and their lack of mercy is not sanctioned in the canonical Gospels (read: Luke 10:25-37). Disobedience to God's will is sin. Swedish pastors' conveyed mercilessness indicates either their heartlessness or their intellectual deficiency, but unmistakably the Swedish pastors' uncompassionate attitude is sinful. Someone could even go as far as arguing that Swedish pastors are evil.

"Do not withhold good from those who deserve it, when it is in your power to act. Do not say to your neighbour, "Come back later; I'll give it tomorrow"— when you now have it with you." (Proverbs 3:27-28)

There is not one Bible-believing church anywhere in Sweden that will declare the necessary Christian attitude to want to help. I can unfortunately not concede to an attitude of mercilessness from an alleged "Christian" church.

Because of the inhumane loneliness as a result of excommunication from church in Sweden combined with the scarcity of 'normal' friendliness in the Swedish culture, and because of my desire to marry a Christian woman, I direly need your practical help. Emigration from Sweden is currently my only option to participation in a welcoming and compassionate Christian church, and for participation in society. Naturalisation through marriage into an English-speaking nation somewhere in the world is the only option. As a Bible-believing evangelical Christian man, Christian marriage is in principle impossible for me within Sweden. God is proficient at performing the miraculous, but I do need your practical assistance also; or at the very least through your prayer towards a Godly practical solution.

I urgently beg for your practical help, or at the very least for your prayers, toward a practical solution to my human longing for marriage with a Christian woman. It is such an elementary human matter, yet in a secularised and evil Sweden with corrupt church governance, the possibility for normal Christian marriage is impossible for me within Sweden. Please persist in prayers for this anti-Christian and anti-Semitic Sweden, and please consider also your possibilities at becoming a practical Christian in this matter.

At this web address (www.nenzen.net/A777.pdf) is a pdf-file of my personal profile on Christiancafe.com, where I actively have searched for companionship with a Christian woman for the past eight years. Would you please help by forwarding the link or pdf-file to anyone who you think may be appropriate. I would much appreciate your help. Without concrete assistance in this matter there is no relationship potential. Without trying - nothing happens. As you are a pastor/ministry leader outside of Sweden, please be practical and share this personal profile with a woman whom you know 1) is single and a never-previously-married born-again Christian, and 2) who longs for marriage with a Christian man. I will gladly fly to US/Canada or another English-speaking nation to meet her. Remaining in Sweden is an impossible option. I need opportunities for normal and real social interaction with other Christian singles, and therefore I absolutely need to emigrate.

Although I remained loyal to God's calling to evangelise in Sweden by returning to Sweden as a missionary in Dec. 1998 and initiated the evangelism project "Jesus loves Sweden" (www.helig.com) in Jan. 1999 and continued evangelism in Sweden despite opposition to the evangelism from many Swedish churches and despite not receiving any form of support from any church in Sweden, and although I had remained faithful to the specific woman that God had planned for me towards marriage (<http://royalcourt.nenzen.net>) in Sweden, and although I had daily prayed particularly for that specific woman during the preceding twelve years (12 years of daily specific prayer!), that specific woman decided to be unfaithful to God's will. In that woman's grave defiance against God regarding marriage she fulfilled her disobedience on June 19, 2010 when she married someone that God had not intended for her. On June 19th I consequently lost "everything". While there was time, no priest or pastor wanted to help. Most Swedish pastors were clueless to God's will because they are deaf to God and because they refused to communicate with me, many pastors had been sufficiently informed but they did not believe, and at least one (indications of several) priest understood the truth but did not want to help. (Comparable attitudes: John 19:15, Luke 19:14). Primarily because of that woman's disobedience to God, but secondarily because of sins of omission from priests and pastors that were supposed to support, God's good plan for her and for me was destroyed. Without exception, no "Christian" in Sweden wanted to act as a Christian, and all priests and pastors in Sweden were ignorant or malevolent. Satan was assisted through both active malevolence and passive sins by all Swedish pastors/priests, and ultimately Satan won through the specific woman's arrogance and disobedience. If any Swedish pastor/priest in future were to repent from their evil attitudes and malevolence, and thereby would decide to want to help me regarding marriage, that help would arrive too late. Nevertheless, I am alive and therefore God can still use me – but never within God's original plan for me, for her, and for Sweden. The consequences of that woman's disobedience and insubordination to God and the effect of sins by all Swedish pastors/priests will remain.

In conjunction with a visit to a pentecostal church in Worcester in United Kingdom (St Pauls church) on 2010-08-25, a pentecostal pastor falsely accused in a private meeting that the reason why Torsten is not yet married in spite of Torsten having prayed for marriage for 17 years is that there is something not right with Torsten's relationship with God. The pentecostal pastor also accused that Torsten is obsessed to get married. When Torsten at the conclusion of the meeting directly inquired with the pastor if he would want to help Torsten to connect with Christian singles, the pastor responded in the negative. Several days after the personal meeting with the pastor, in email the pastor denied his earlier statements from the meeting. Apart from that pastor's blatant lies (denial of factual truth) regarding the pastor's own statements, there is an evident gap of logic in the pastor's failing to recognise the relationship between Torsten's involuntary singleness and Torsten's absence of connecting settings for Christian singles, Torsten's excommunication from church in Sweden, all Swedish pastor's refusal to helpfully invite into a discipling church, and Swedish royal sin.

The Immigration and Refugee Board of Canada decided on June 28, 2010 that I am not welcome to return to my home country Canada as a returning permanent resident, in spite that I was raised and schooled in Canada and in spite that my only brother and my parents live in BC, Canada as Canadian citizens. Therefore, a Christian community in an English-speaking nation now needs to invite me and help me get connected within their Christian community. Will you be that help?

Thank-you for considering your possibility to be part of God's new solution by helping in a practical manner.

Logically, a human person needs to become the solution towards relational assistance, as we are social beings by design. No Christian in Sweden wants to be a helping friend. Although I have many Christian acquaintances I do not have one Christian friend within Sweden. Because no Christian in Sweden is a friend and no one wants to help, it appears impossible to resolve my circumstantial crisis within Sweden. No pastor/priest in Sweden knows me or speaks with me, and no Christian acquaintance in Sweden is a friend. Simply expressed: Christians in Sweden don't care. Therefore, perhaps the prayer-alone solution is a non-solution. Perhaps God is waiting to find a human of God's avail, a willing Christian, to become the help I need - so that I can meet and communicate with a Christian woman. Based on my knowledge and experience of Sweden, a nation impoverished from lack of social capital, I assess of my situation that only humans outside of Sweden will be able to become the Christian friend that I need.

A personal prayer request and public bulletin of contemporary Christianity in Sweden

Dear Pastors and Ministry leaders,

Will you please help to pray for Sweden?

I am contacting you because of an urgent personal need and because of the depraved church governance in Sweden. My name is Torsten. I am a normal 39 years old man and I have never been married. I was raised in British Columbia, Canada but moved as an adult to Sweden. I strongly desire to share my love with a Christian woman within marriage and have, consequently, prayed regularly the past fifteen years for God's blessing of a wife. The past ten years of daily prayers for a wife have included many grieving and painful tears in longing for marital companionship. I also grieve over human loneliness and social exclusion due to the lack of compassionate and humane pastors in Sweden.

There are principally two obstacles creating this very difficult life situation of wanting to marry but finding no-one. Firstly, I live in Sweden. Sweden admirably is a state of relative socio-economic equity, but is also a nation impoverished from lack of social capital. Swedish Christian women are generally feministic and proud, and culturally somewhat fearful/shy/suspicious to new contacts – especially for one-to-one conversations. Secondly, I do not belong to a Christian church and therefore I do not have the possibility to become acquainted with any Christians. I was excommunicated 2002 from a Swedish Pentecostal church without a given reason or explanation.

One of the Pentecostal denomination's sectarian churches (Stockholm Karisma Center) excommunicated me 2002 without informing me of a reason. After half a year from being excommunicated, an unofficial source informed me that "The purpose of the excommunication was to help you along the way." This exact statement was later reiterated by a pastor of the Swedish Pentecostal denomination. Because the church would not explain the excommunication with any other statement, I requested that the director of the Swedish Pentecostal denomination (www.pingst.se) would investigate the church and provide me with a reason for the excommunication. After several months, the Swedish Pentecostal denomination simply concluded that "We cannot see any reason to excommunicate, but you have been defined as a difficult person. We cannot acquit you." The Swedish Pentecostal denomination's singular argument for myself being a "difficult person" was the fact that the Swedish Vineyard denomination 1997 expelled me from further studies at Vineyard Theological School in Stockholm.

The Swedish Vineyard denomination expelled me from further studies at Vineyard Theological School in Stockholm 1997 because of two unexplainable reasons. The Swedish pastor motivated my expulsion from the Swedish Vineyard by two cryptic statements "You are not the sort of person we want to approve. You have emotional problems." I directly asked the Swedish pastor what he meant. The Swedish pastor curtly replied "I understand that you do not understand." After one week I emailed the Swedish pastor and asked him again what he meant with his motivation for expulsion. This time, the Swedish pastor lied and denied that I had been expelled. After another week, the Swedish pastor had changed his mind again and answered "You may remain in Vineyard Theological School, but you can not attend my lectures." After the Swedish pastor's lies I did not want to return to that theological school. Even to this very day, this Swedish Vineyard pastor's unexplainable actions and unsubstantiated accusations against my person function as a reason that the Swedish Pentecostal denomination cannot acquit me of charges of being a "difficult person". Since the Swedish Vineyard pastor has had ample opportunity the past almost ten years to explain his words and deeds, and yet has not, I will publicly guess what happened. Probably, the Swedish pastor thought I was a homosexual. In 1997 it was a trendy fashion to have slightly longer hair in the neck in the form of a ponytail. Also I followed that trend and therefore had a ponytail with a thin pink stretchable string to tie the hair. I have never been, am not, and shall never be a homosexual. I am sexually attracted only to women.

Since the excommunication from the Swedish church 2002, I have pleaded with most churches in Sweden for any church to want to welcome me as a member of their church and to want to assist my search for a wife. The past ten months I have pleaded each week to over 1000 Christian churches in Sweden that any pastor would want to welcome me and help. Unfortunately, not one pastor in all of Sweden wants to welcome and help, but the response from Swedish pastors are instead falsely accusatory, presumptuous and discourteous. Most of the Swedish pastors reply with false accusations against my person in an unchristian manner. Swedish pastors are each week revealing themselves to be inhumane and uncompassionate. Every public letter sent to Swedish churches is published at www.kyrkor.be.

As I will only marry a girl who loves Jesus Christ more than she would love me, I would expect to find a woman of God within a church context. Therefore, I have inquired with churches all over Sweden if anyone cares to assist the search for Christian fellowship with Christian singles, as to enable commencing a relationship process that may progress into marriage. Most Swedish pastors, however, nurture church cultures characterized by superficial communication and inhibit establishment of settings that would make genuine Christian relationships (accountable discipleship) attainable. Moreover, many pastors in Sweden actively suppress evangelical truth and its proponents.

Last year 2005 I applied for full time theological studies at a university college; Stockholm School of Theology (www.ths.se). My application for theological studies at the Swedish university was denied by the university rector. The Swedish rector created an additional qualification requirement only for me. The rector illegitimately required that the Swedish college would not accept my application until I would apologize for having sent a letter to the college on the topic of homosexuality. Through the evangelism project I initiated in 1999 Jesus Loves Sweden (www.helig.com/index_e.html), I had sent an article where I proclaimed and argued that homosexuality is a sin against God (www.helig.com/opinion_archive.html). All members of the Swedish parliament received the same letter, as did all national newspapers. The members of parliament did not demonstrate as much opposition to the letter as did the Swedish Christian institutions. The Swedish theological college's refusal of my application for studies is a blatant discrimination against those who hold to the view that homosexuality is a sin against God. This case (15929/06) is currently being decided at the European Court of Human Rights.

This year 2006 I applied for theological studies at two other university colleges in Sweden: Orebro Missionsskola (www.orebromissionsskola.se), and Johannelunds teologiska hogskola (www.johannelund.nu). Both Swedish university colleges rejected my application. Orebro Missionsskola rejected my application because I could not provide any references. I am excommunicated from Swedish churches and thereby no pastor in Sweden knows me, and therefore no pastor can recommend me. Because no pastor in Sweden can recommend me I requested that the theological college, instead of the required recommendations, would personally interview me. They agreed and did instead interview me over the telephone. Not until I requested a reason why I had not been selected for studies did the Swedish theological college explain that the agreed interview would not replace the requirement of recommendations. As a result of Swedish pastors' evils through unrighteous excommunication from church, and because of uncompassionate Swedish pastors' unwillingness to welcome and help into any other church – I am not permitted to study theology in Sweden. The other theological university, Johannelunds teologiska hogskola, rejected my application because I stated that I could not foresee myself working within a Swedish church, as probably no church in Sweden would want to employ me, and because my primary concern is evangelism. The Swedish theological university will apparently only accept students who guarantee that they want to be employed within a Swedish church. The Apostle Paul's example of self-financing is apparently not acceptable. Evangelists and missionaries are not allowed to study theology.

In essence, this is my experience in Sweden: Evil is just as prevalent within the Swedish churches as outside the churches. In general, Swedish pastors are among the greatest hypocrites in Sweden. The greatest opposition towards evangelizing the gospel truths in Sweden does not come from any political party or government – the strongest opposition comes from the well established Christian churches.

May I please ask that you will pray for these natural and simple needs:

- 1) Pray for compassionate pastors within Sweden.
- 2) Pray for a church in Sweden that will want to welcome and assist.

Thank-you for praying for Sweden.
