

British Christian leaders dishonour agreement

(British Christian liars are also malicious)

<http://christiandistinctives.org>

A Christian leader in United Kingdom at the helm of the organisation Christian Distinctives (<http://christiandistinctives.org/vision-and-mission.htm>), who let a room in their personal house in London, breached a rental agreement on three accounts; length of stay, internet access and internet quality, and time of notice of termination of rental agreement.

The rental agreement was a maximum stay of five months and a minimum stay of four months. Initially, the landlord wanted to let for a minimum of six months. In reality on arrival, after the landlord was informed by me that my primary objective in London was to find a Christian woman to marry, and that my secondary objective was to communicate the Gospel to people on a street level, the landlord shortened my maximum duration of stay to four months.

The rental agreement included a reliable and fast WiFi internet connection. In reality, the internet connection was unstable with frequent daily interruptions of internet access. The landlord knew that the internet connection was problematic, yet described the internet connection as reliable. The landlord did not want to resolve the issue. Replacing the old router with a new router, or changing internet provider may have corrected the connectivity issue.

Additionally, this "Christian" chairperson of the organisation 'Christian Distinctives' purposefully unplugged and removed the router in front of me, saying to me "You spend too much time on the internet." as a way to aggravate the accommodation crisis the landlord imposed on me at the onset of their 15-hour notice of eviction. Through the eviction, the British "Christian" landlord consequently also breached the rental contract by ignoring the written clause about a mutual one-month notice of termination of agreement.

Another aspect of this British Christian leader of "Christian Distinctives" which deserves exposure: this Christian leader expressed prejudiced nationalism against Africans, as she told me that she had a meeting in May 2012 with a British MP in the Department of Health, with purpose to address her concern about African employees within British health care. The Christian leader expressed to me, and reportedly also to the MP, that she considered immigrant Africans to have bad attitudes toward patient care. I did not pick a battle with her about her prejudiced nationalism, but simply informed her at the time that my best co-worker in evangelism is an African immigrant, and that I find excellent attitudes especially among immigrants.

Email addresses and texts of the beneath email correspondence that are irrelevant to substantiating the claim of breaches of a rental agreement have been removed, as to not unethically expose the involved persons.

Dishonesty and malice are not a Christian distinctives, but are far too common church-leader characteristics.

The uncooperative and malevolent "Christian" landlord leaves my personal belongings outside near the sidewalk.

I asked the landlord in a mobile text message on Saturday evening if I may collect my box of remaining personal items from the house that the landlord had evicted me from.

From: Torsten Nenzen
To: +447774636848 (Dot Palmer Fry)
Sent: 20:17, 14 July
Delivery report: Received 20:18, 14 July

"May I collect my box of items and fridge items this evening in 20min? If I ring bell, will someone give the box to me outside?"

The landlord had yet not replied by Sunday morning. The landlord appeared intent to frustrate my retrieval of my personal belongings, as unreasonableness and malice had become the main qualities of the landlord's conduct towards me. Therefore, I inquired with the London Metropolitan Police if they could assist, and I sent this letter:

-----Original Message-----

From: Crime reporting [mailto:crime-reporting@met.police.uk]

Sent: 15 July 2012 10:06

To: DoI Mailbox - Online Forms; MPSHOLON

Subject: Crime reporting CR03-00056478

Form title:

Crime reporting

Reference:

CR03-00056478

Submitted:

15-07-2012 10:06:27

Crime details

Crime details: Crime Type: Criminal damage

Crime details: Start date: 11/07/2012

Crime details: Start time: 1100

Crime details: Address:

Dot and Mike Palmer Fry

49 Hanover Gardens

London, SE11 5TN

Mikendot10@gmail.com

Dot: 07774 636 848

Crime details: Town / area: Lambeth

Crime details: Postcode: SE11 5TN

Your details

Your details: Are you: The victim

Your details: Did you witness the incident: Yes

Your details: First name: Torsten

Your details: Last name: Nenzen

Your details: Gender: Male

Your details: Date of birth: 26/09/1966

Your details: Ethnic background: Not specified

Your details: Disability: No

Your details: What times can we contact you: text message and email

Your details: Address line 1:

Your details: Preferred contact number: +46 707 77 77 54

Your details: Mobile phone contact number: +46 707 77 77 54

Your details: Email address: torsten@nenzen.net

Reporting on behalf of someone else

Property and motor vehicle details

Description of property stolen/damaged:

On Wednesday July 11, the landlord Palmer Fry at 49 Hanover Gardens evicted me from their house which I had a rental agreement with. The rental agreement included a mutual one-month notice of termination of agreement, but the landlord gave an eviction notice of 15 hours. I requested that I will only leave on a police or court order. Metropolitan Police arrived and courteously asked me to comply with leaving their house. I subsequently gathered most of my belongings into a suitcase and departed from the the house. Because I had more belongings than I could fit into my suitcase, I asked the owners if I could leave the remaining items in a box to collect at a later time. They agreed. I currently have one box of personal belongings inside their house which I need to retrieve. Saturday evening 14/7 I sent a text message to the owner inquiring if I may ring the door bell to have the box brought out to me outside. The owner did not reply to my text message.

I need the Metropolitan Police to assist me in retrieving my box of personal belongings from the landlord of this property. I assess that the landlord is unwilling to cooperate, and that the landlord also may be intent to make it difficult or impossible for me to have my box of belongings returned to me.

May I please ask that Metropolitan Police will contact the landlord to agree on a time when they will make themselves available to return to me my box of personal belongings.

Thank-you.

Other information regarding the crime / incident

Was the crime / incident captured on CCTV: Not known
Was there any CCTV coverage in the area: Not known
Was this viewed by anyone: Not known
Description of the crime / incident: Not yet a crime, but I assess that it is probable that the landlord is intent to not cooperate in returning my box of personal belongings.
Description of suspects: Dorothea and Mike Palmer Fry
Any other information:

Declarations

Incident happening at this time: No
Injured/danger at the moment: No
Is there a "crime scene" or physical evidence: No
Did the matter happen outside London: No
Victim of a similar crime in last 12 months: No
Road traffic incident: No

The London Metropolitan Police responded quickly, professionally and helpfully.

----- Original Message -----

From: MPS.HOLON@met.police.uk
To: torsten@nenzen.net
Sent: Sunday, July 15, 2012 10:23 AM
Subject: Crime reporting CR03-00056478

Dear Mr Nenzen

This is the incorrect method to request police assistance to arrange collection of property. You need to ring 101 and make arrangements for police to attend with you at an agreed time in order to prevent a breach of the peace.

Thank you
NSY email office

Every Sunday I visit between 3 to 5 different churches, as I have essentially only one day per week when I can try to meet other Christian singles. The landlord knows this. It is therefore not surprising that the landlord chose to not cooperate about deciding on an agreed day and time for collecting my remaining personal belongings which would be appropriate for both parties. When I arrived to the first church meeting on Sunday morning, the "Christian" landlord jerks that had evicted me earlier in the week sent a mobile text message to me, stating that they were immediately putting my box of remaining personal belongings outdoors on their doorstep to the sidewalk within the next two minutes. I therefore had to leave the church meeting for picking up the box at their street doorstep, and travel with it back to my new accommodation. Consequently, I missed two church services; two theoretical opportunities to meet other Christian singles. It's unbelievable how unreasonable, and malicious, those "Christian" landlord jerks are.

The unreasonable and uncooperative "Christian" landlord household sent the following two text messages to my mobile phone on Sunday morning:

From: +447974361939 (Dot Palmer Fry's caretaker Simon)

Received: 11:13, 15 July

"Torsten, your belongings will be outside of Number 49 at 11.15am today. Please collect them immediately to avoid disappointment. Thanks"

From: +447974361939 (Dot Palmer Fry's caretaker Simon)

Received: 11:39, 15 July

"Your belongings are on the door step as requested."

Maybe in context, it could be of relevance to also know the spoken fundamental values of the landlord's in-house caretaker, that the caretaker had declared to me some weeks earlier in a respectful conversation that "I would rather be a friend with my homosexual friends than to be a friend with God." Of course there is no Biblical incongruity about befriending persons with different views (Jesus himself was a friend with sinners), but it became evident in that conversation that the caretaker lacked a personal desire for reconciliation with God. Also the male landlord and property owner declared to me from the beginning of my stay within their house, when I mentioned that Britain's largest "Christian" singles website had suspended me for declaration on my profile on that site (<http://www.kyrkor.be/christianconnection.co.uk-discrimination-against-Christianity.pdf>) that "Active homosexuality is a sin.", that "You can not say that here in Britain." The landlord's manifested derogatory attitude towards my person could also be related to my stance in Biblical sexual ethics, but it difficult to know if this is relevant when they do not want to talk with me further, and explain why they show a derogatory attitude, why they act maliciously, and why they do not want me to remain in their house.

The inconsistent and malevolent "Christian" landlord declared contradictory reasons for termination of the agreed WiFi internet provision.

The leader for the British organisation Christian Distinctives, who also is the landlord that let a room to me in their building, when I asked in a friendly voice if the landlord could make a telephone call to her internet provider in regards to the internet connection being down for more than an hour, she snottily replied "There is no place in the contract that you must have access to internet 24 hours every day. I don't like that you pressure me.", and she did not bother to telephone the internet provider. A responsible, constructive and cooperative person would acknowledge that reporting and inquiring about cause of a lengthy internet failure with the internet providing company is a reasonable first action, and particularly after a downtime exceeding several hours. Perhaps because the landlord is a British "Christian" nationalistic leader, she thinks that she can treat her non-British tenant like a dog. This "Christian" landlord's commonality with far too many other "Christians" is that truth and integrity are subordinate to money and self. As a result of the landlord's derogatory attitude to her "dog-tenant", her malice (maybe also due to a state of mental confusion), I was left without internet access in the house from Thursday morning until Monday afternoon. Only because I took the granted initiative to contact BT engineers to identify the cause of the internet failure, by taking 2½ hours of my time on telephone with BT engineers, did I and BT identify the problem as a faulty BT filter connected to a telephone socket inside the house. I identified and resolved a problem that the landlord should have attended to herself. But as a consequence of my helping the landlord to fix the problem after more than 4 days of inaccessible connection to internet, the landlord returned the following evening, angrily declaring that the landlord wanted me out of their house the next morning. In anger the landlord, in front of me, also unplugged and removed the internet router, stating that "You spend too much time on the internet."

The inconsistent and malevolent "Christian" landlord provides contradictory reasons for the termination of the agreed WiFi internet, and these are mobile text messages between the tenant and the landlord:

From: Torsten Nenzen
To: +447774636848 (Dot Palmer Fry)
Sent: 12:37, 5 July

"Hello Dot. The internet has been down for several hours. Please inquire with your provider for a solution. Thanks. Torsten"

From: +447774636848 (Dot Palmer Fry)
Received: 13:34, 5 July

"Dear Torsten, this morning I accidentally knocked the main BT connection out of the wall in the kitchen. Eduardo and I replaced it and tested that the line us working. I then turned the router off and on again. There should be no other problems other than general band width demand. I am awaiting a call from the IT person who installed it"

From: +447774636848 (Dot Palmer Fry)
Received: 13:52, 5 July

"Mike has called BT and it is the band width and local demand causing the problem. Dot"

From: +447774636848 (Dot Palmer Fry)
Received: 22:13, 5 July

"BT informed Mike that there was a problem at BT of the whole area associated with the activities being I Planted for security of the Olympics. It should all be gone again. We are personally not responsible . Dot"

From: +447774636848 (Dot Palmer Fry)
Received: 12:43, 6 July

"The BT service was resumed last night. Please turn rhe router off and on again. Then all should be well. Dot"

From: Torsten Nenzen
To: +447774636848 (Dot Palmer Fry)
Sent: 10:12, 8 July
Delivery report: Received 10:14, 8 July

"Morning, will you have someone fix your internet connection today? The situation without internet is unacceptable. It causes me difficulties. T"

----- Original Message -----

From: torsten@nenzen.net

To:

Sent: Thursday, July 12, 2012 3:36 PM

Subject: update

Dear all,

Thanks for your recent prayers regarding the previously urgent situation of finding accommodation. You prayed, God heard you, and God provided.

I moved into a new place yesterday afternoon, which is more than £200 cheaper than what I was paying at the previous house. Satan attacked through a "Christian" landlord who is the chairperson of a "Christian" organisation in United Kingdom, but God defended me and immediately supplied my need.

I was informed on Tuesday evening this week that the landlord was inviting a girl to look at the room on the same evening as a potential tenant, and that they wanted me out of their house on Wednesday morning (maybe because of greater profit during the Olympics, or an invented reason). I didn't have internet access on Tuesday evening or on Wednesday morning because the landlord purposefully unplugged and removed the router in front of me, saying to me "You spend too much time on the internet." When I most needed internet access to search for a new accommodation, the "Christian" landlord maliciously unplugged the router just to make my critical situation extra difficult. What bothers me most about that unreasonable, dishonest and malicious "Christian" landlord is not the inhumane manner or the evil intention, but the fact that they are chairpersons of a "Christian" organisation. Had they been mere secular jerks, it would be more understandable. But as the landlord is the chairperson of a "Christian" ministry (<http://christiandistinctives.org>), their conduct is dissonantly inappropriate.

I notified the landlord on Wednesday morning that I will only allow their eviction by police or court order. When two police officers arrived, one of the officers acknowledged that the rental contract cannot be recognised as a correct rental agreement, as the landlord was renting a room to me illegally and not paying income tax on their profit, but that I would probably win against the landlord if I pursued a civil court case against the landlord, because the written contract did contain a clause about mutual one month's notice for early termination of agreement.

Thanks again for your recent prayers. God heard you.

Best regards,

Torsten

----- Original Message -----

From: torsten@nenzen.net

To:

Sent: Tuesday, July 10, 2012 9:43 PM

Subject: URGENT

Dear all,

I urgently need accommodation from tomorrow morning Wednesday July 11. I moved to London from Sweden at the end of April 2012 and began renting a room in a house next to Oval tube station. The retired landlord shocked me this evening by declaring that she was having someone look at the room this evening for renting, and that they wanted me out of their house by the morning.

The "Christian" landlord deliberately shut down the internet for me, just to make these hours of trying to find new accommodation extra difficult for me.

I have been paying £550 per month in rent, and this is the maximum that I can afford.

Please, if you or someone that you know can accommodate me until the end of August, or as a temporary solution, please let me know tonight. I fly to Stockholm, Sweden on September 4.

My mobile number is: +46 707 77 77 54

Please send a text message if you can help me with a room, or a temporary solution. Because the landlord deliberately shut me off the internet in the house, I cannot read email other than at cafés. Please use my mobile number for texting.

Otherwise, I do street level evangelism here in London through an evangelism project called Jesus Loves People (<http://www.helig.com>).

Best regards,

Torsten Nenzen

Mobile: +46 707 77 77 54

Dot and Mike Palmer Fry

49, Hanover Gardens.

London SE11 5TN

Mikendot10@gmail.com

07774 636 848

Torsten Nezen

Received with thanks the sum of £550 as deposit for the room on the second floor right hand side of the above address. The arrangement is one of a Paying Guest.

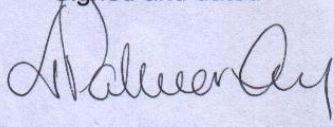

You are renting the bedroom, and the reasonable use of the bathroom and the kitchen.

The deposit is fully refundable on your departure unless there is outstanding rent to pay, damage or breakages which would classify as more than average wear and tear.

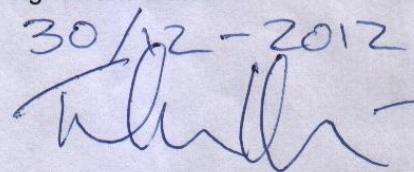

For the convenience of both parties, we ask for and undertake to give one month's notice of the end of our agreement.

The contribution to the rent of £550 is payable on the first of every month and will be pro rated if either party ends the contract during the calendar month. A cheque is payable for Month One and thereafter a Standing Order / Direct Debit will be set up with your Bank.

Signed and dated

 30/04/12

Signed and Dated

30/12-2012

----- Original Message -----

From:

To:

Cc:

Sent: Monday, April 16, 2012 4:17 PM

Subject: Re: Arriving on April 30 -- around 22:00 or 22:30

Dear Tor,

OK we agree.

With very bet wishes

----- Original Message -----

From:

To:

Sent: Monday, April 16, 2012 2:22 PM

Subject: Arriving on April 30 -- around 22:00 or 22:30

Dear ,

I would like to confirm that I very much would like to rent your room.

...

I plan to stay for a minimum of four months: May, June, July and August. I may also want to stay a fifth month in September.

I look forward to being a guest in your home.

Very best regards,

Torsten

----- Original Message -----

From:

To:

Sent: Sunday, April 15, 2012 2:40 PM

Subject: Re: lambeth room for rent

PS - There is fast, reliable WiFi at the house.

----- Original Message -----

From:

To:

Sent: Sunday, April 15, 2012 11:33 AM

Subject: Re: lambeth room for rent

Hi ,

Some brief comments and quick questions:

...

- Reliable and fast Wifi internet connection is at the very top of my priorities, as I am dependent on internet for essentially all my communications and projects. Is the Wifi reliable and fast?

...

Best regards,

Torsten

Screen clip of dialogue on advertisement website:

Date: 14 Apr, 2012 at 21:33

From: Dot PALMER FRY

To: You

Hi Tor,

All you require is on offer - we have a local park about 300 yds from the house. Oval tube is 30 secs walk from the front door and the rest is described in the blurb.

The Paying guest room is available from 6th May . However our guest room will be vacant from 1st May to the 6th.

We are planning to leave London for Thailand on Thursday 19th April. As the arrangement you require is for 5 months, if we are able to take up references which are satisfactory : and you are interested, our son could "show you the ropes" , collect the deposit and first month's rent and give you the keys. We return to UK on 8th May. Let us know what you think.

Adverts by Dot currently showing on Christian Flatshare:

No adverts showing.

Date: 14 Apr, 2012 at 21:14

From: You

To: Dot PALMER FRY

Hi Dot Palmer!

I may be interested to rent a bedroom from you from end of April. However, I will probably only be renting for 4-5 months. Is that OK with you?

I like the vicinity to a subway station (Oval).

Best regards,